NEWS FROM ALL OVER IMPERIAL MISSOURI

Interesting Happenings Which Have Taken Place In the Greatest State in the Union

The Product of the Scissors, the Pen and a Very Little Actual Labor

The Brashear News records the astonishing fact that little Miss Josephine Davis of Windsor has ten living grandparents. The oldest living great-grandparent is 85. Though plentifully supplied with grandparents, however, the little girl can never have an aunt, uncle or cousin as her father and mother are both the only children of their parents.

Leslie Carpenter of Tarkio, this week purchased from Russell Bilby the tract of land north of Craig known as the Bilby ranch. This is one of the largest tracts of land in Holt county and comprises about 1,540 acres, and there is more than seven hundred acres in alfalfa. It is understood the consideration was $100 per acre.—Craig Leader.

"A train of empty freight cars was forced to stand on the siding here most of the day and up into the night recently because the crew had been on the go continuously for sixteen hours, which is the limit according to a railway ruling," says the Clinton Hill Rustler. "After an eight-hour rest they proceeded on their way. A watchman from Moberly came down to see after the engine while its crew slept."

The House of Representatives at Jefferson City passed the educational appropriation bill carrying a total of $3,487,657. Out of this amount, the State Normal School of Maryville will receive $210,000. The state university will get $1,537,000. Other appropriations are: Kirksville Normal, $471,448; Warrensburg Normal, $261,000; Cape Girardeau Normal, $259,600; Springfield Normal, $415,500; School of Mines, $291,500; Lincoln Institute, $156,700.

The Liberty Advance presents the other side of the soldier-and-his-job question with this: "Marshall Ligon is becoming a little lukewarm about sending men out for jobs who claim to be returned soldiers. He has found positions for three such men and none has made good. The last one, who gave his name as Floyd Smith, was sent to Ed Ross's farm last Thursday and left Saturday, and after he was gone Ed missed his watch and other things."

A meeting of the members of the local union of miners and the operators was held in the miners' hall on North College street Sunday afternoon, at which time the miners of this city agreed to enter the mines this morning at seven o'clock, new time, and all of the miners are in operation today. A committee composed of the members of the local union was appointed to confer with the operators today, and the operators have guaranteed a satisfactory agreement as to the time of opening the mines under the new day light saving plan.—Richmond News.

According to the Edgerton Journal, when the flooring of Skinner's Bridge over Platte River gave way while Edgar Gaines and Ed Fields were driving a wagon and team over it recently, dumping them about fifteen feet into the river, things did not turn out so badly as might have been expected. Both males were saved absolutely without injury, although the harness of both was torn to pieces and one had to be raised from the creek with a block and tackle. The wagon was saved because it landed on some of the bridge timber as it went down, and the two men were saved because they had the presence of mind to jump from the wagon.

A Columbia paper relates how the number 13 pursued Charles C. Woods of Laredo, through the war, although it did not prove a particularly unlucky jinx. He was with the 12th Engineers (Railway) in France. His regiment was organized Friday, July 12, 1917. It left Chicago in two trains of thirteen coaches each, and landed in France August 13. Its first engine was No. 13 and the regimental paper's title was composed of 13 letters and issued on the 13th of every month. The last issue of this paper was No. 13, published February 13, was No. 13 and the regimental paper's title was composed of 13 letters and issued on the 13th of every month. The last issue of this paper was No. 13, published February 13, was No. 13 and the regimental paper's title was composed of 13 letters and issued on the 13th of every month.

Hon. George H. Carpenter, Repre-

kins, were injured. Hawkins is alleged to have been driving the car at an excessive rate, and lost control of the machine when he turned out of the road to avoid an approaching car. Mrs. Maggie McGrath, wife of Aubrey McGrath, a soldier now in France, suffered a broken neck when she was thrown out. The other five men in the car received injuries.

"The next typewriter thinker who hits this old town will receive a warm welcome, judging from the chat one hears," announces the Clinton Democrat. "A pair of the gentry made the rounds some days ago and wherever a bargain was not made in advance for a definite job at a definite price, a bill of from several dollars up to as high as $17.50 was presented. So general was the protest that State's Attorney Davis, who paid $2.50 for a new rubber roller and firmly believes he got back his old one sandpapered down, endeavored to locate the pair to institute prosecution proceedings, but they had already left town."

"Last Wednesday night Harry Swarthout was driving a car to Pleasant Hill," says the Pleasant Hill Times. "And about dusk, just in front of the lonely White Cloud schoolhouse, he heard something hit the back curtains with a loud slap. He didn't know what it was and didn't stop to look—just sorta leaned on the accelerator a bit. Half a mile or so and someone put a hand gently on his shoulder—little more gas. Something was on his head next—and the boards under the 'foot feed' began to creak and bend. Several more miles and still Harry had not been stabbed nor shot, nor robbed. He grew a little braver and cautiously reached for the thing on his head. A small owl of the screech variety is now in captivity at the Swarthout home."

With a woman and a watchman murdered by bandits and half a hundred robberies and holdups within twelve hours, Charles W. Mansur, president of the board of police commissioners, ordered the arming of policemen with riot guns and the placing at their command of scores of motor cars to halt the crime wave which is growing in St. Louis.

Evidently a modern Job lives in Fredericktown and he recently advertised in the Democrat-News as follows: "Friends of mine have borrowed my wheelbarrow, patchole digger, cross-cut wood saw, carpenter horses and a few other tools. Kindly look over your tools and if you have mine, please return them." Mark you that he still calls them friends.
